Title : Test 991, IBM WbSphr Bus, Modeler Adv V6.0.2, Bus Anl.+Des.

1. A business analyst has modeled a process that contains a local subprocess. After completing the process model, the analyst determines there are no known details for the subprocess so it would be better represented as a task.

What is the simplest way for the analyst to change the subprocess into a local task?

- A. Right click in the subprocess diagram, select 'Demote to Local Task'
- B. Right click on the subprocess, select Convert to > Local Task
- C. Open the attributes for the subprocess, select 'Change to Local Task' in the General Tab
- D. There is no selection option. The analyst must add a local task to the diagram, change the connections and delete the subprocess.

Answer: B

2. What is business process modeling?

- B. To create a comprehensive set of business processes and manage the processes through well-defined metrics
- C. To define and implement business process goals according to performance measures for the industry

8. Which two parts does WebSphere Business Modeler play in the SOA lifecycle?

- A. It provides outputs for production deployment.
- B. It provides outputs to assemble for deployment.
- C. It accepts inputs from deployment.
- D. It accepts inputs from orchestration and assembly.
- E. It accepts inputs from management results.

Answer: BE

9. Refer to the exhibit.

While investigating process improvement opportunities for the model segment shown in the exhibit, it was discovered that each of the three tasks preceding the "Package Order" activity is performed independently and is not dependent upon the other two tasks' completion status. Also, the Warehouse Clerk Role is underutilized.

Given this information, how can this process segment be improved?

- A. By using a Fork to split processing into three parallel paths, Retrieve Software Inventory, Retrieve Hardware Inventory, and Provide Packaging Supplies can be performed in parallel. The Package Order task can then accept all the individual outputs before starting.
- B. By using a Fork to split processing into two parallel paths, Provide Packaging Supplies can be performed in parallel to the tasks of Retrieve Software Inventory and Retrieve Hardware Inventory. The Warehouse Clerk Role performs both of these activities, so there is a resource dependency that requires the two retrieve inventory tasks to be performed in parallel.
- C. Interview members of each job role on how they can improve the time required to perform their tasks. Implement those time savings into the future state process model.

D. Further investigation will reveal that while the tasks can be performed in any order, each task requires the same Invoice as its input but does not update the Invoice. Because there is only one Invoice that must be shared among the three tasks, the process sequence cannot be altered.

Answer: A

10. Which analysis should be performed to gain an understanding of which activities share common types of work, such as, "manual tasks" or "Business value added", to focus on those activities that have a common quality or behavior?

- C. The Processing time duration for individual tasks for which this setting has been set will be overridden with the value of the longest 'Time required' duration of associated resources.
